

From: [REDACTED]
To: Media
Subject: New York Sun article about Good Law Project's claims of suicides on GIDS waiting list
Date: 24 June 2024 17:57:06
Attachments: external.png
first\_time\_sender\_warning.png
finance\_warning.png
orange.png

---

Dear Tavistock,

I am writing an article for The New York Sun about The Good Law Project's recent claims that suicides among youth on the GIDS waiting list spiked after the Bell v Tavistock judgement in late 2020.

Are you able to comment on these claims? I would greatly appreciate any relevant information you could provide for my reporting. I will likely publish an article late Tuesday or early Wednesday New York time.

Thanks for your time.

Best,

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

Twitter & Threads:

[REDACTED]

Recent Work:

The New York Times:

Keeping Cattle on the Move and Carbon in the Soil

Emailing Your Doctor May Carry a Fee

California Joins Other States in Suing Companies Over Insulin Prices

The Guardian:

Study finds evidence of 'considerable' presymptomatic spread of monkeypox

HIV after Covid: Anthony Fauci and an army of researchers seek to regain momentum

'Rick Scott had us on lockdown': how Florida said no to \$70m for HIV crisis

NBC News:

Lesions, headaches, debilitating pain: Gay men with monkeypox share their stories

How Tennessee axed millions in HIV funds amid scrutiny from far-right provocateurs

After Fetterman debate, stroke survivors speak about their own struggles

Covid-19 reporting: [REDACTED]

Mpox reporting: [REDACTED]